A Worship Conversation

A few Saturdays ago Brian Logan, George and Pat Ramey, and I attended a worship conversation at First Baptist Corbin dubbed a ‘Worship Listening Session.’ Several area churches were in attendance as we discussed the topic of worship. This conversation was not focused on a particular style of worship, but on the substance of worship, why we do what we do.

The discussion focused on these areas of worship services: Gathering, Interceding, Confession, Proclamation, and Sending. The areas were introduced; questions were asked; and discussion ensued.

Here are a few nuggets I wrote down:

Worship is a time when we ‘pause Godward.’

Worship is surrender.

It is when we prepare together to ‘go out and be the people of God.’

Church can be our ‘family of choice.’

‘Most people long to be spiritually nurtured and to be loved.’

‘Is God with us or ahead of us?’

It was so very exciting to participate in this discussion. In short, I am quite pleased with our worship here at First Baptist and appreciate the variety in our service each week; I appreciate the gifts shared by our members; I appreciate the thoughtfulness and the traditions that we enjoy and continue. I love the music, both classical, traditional, and contemporary.

I wonder, What excites you about worship at First Baptist? Certainly this aspect of our church’s ministry has so much potential to praise God further and to bless the world.

My hope is that together we can more fully, faithfully, and deeply worship God in this place. Please make it a priority to attend morning worship each week, to pray often for our worship times together, and to offer the Lord your very best in service to him.

Blessings,

Ande
